

GOV. STEPHENS DEDICATES CLUB

THROUGHS ATTEND FORMAL OPENING OF SOCIAL ORGANIZATION; GOVERNOR ELECTED TO HONORARY MEMBERSHIP.

As the Schaw-Batcher Shipyard band blared out "Over There," Ben Killeen handed to Governor William D. Stephens a beribboned key to the Steel Workers' Club last Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock, the chief executive of the State threw open its doors and, gallantly escorting Mrs. W. H. Coffinberry Sr., led a long line of waiting couples to the formal dedication of the club.

Gaily decorated with flowers, which set off the national colors grouped as a background for well-displayed pictures of President Wilson and the Governor, the club rooms presented a splendid appearance to the throng which poured into the social hall, where they were presented to the genial executive, who beamed broadly as the introductions were made.

Praises Steel Men.

A brief introductory address by W. J. Martin preceded the speech of the Governor, who dwelt particularly on the immense part the steel workers were playing in the great war. "The most necessary body of men in the United States to-day," was the Governor's comment.

Grouped about the speaker were many aspirants for county offices, who temporarily forgot their political differences in the great general cohesion urged by the Governor "to stand behind the government in the prosecution of the war." He touched feelingly upon his son-in-law, who is with the United States marines in France, and swung quickly into a scathing denunciation of the I. W. W., amidst a burst of applause from his listeners.

Governor Stephens complimented the people of South San Francisco upon the patriotism displayed in the recent Red Cross, Liberty Loan and Thrift Stamp drives. "I am informed," he said, "that you have gone 'over the top' in every instance; in fact, I understand that you people just eat up 'tops,' was the remark which drew laughter and more applause.

The Schaw-Batcher Band came in for a liberal share of praise.

"I want to compliment this band," he said. "I do not know how you people can ask more than to have such an organization here," he continued.

Governor Is Member.

Following the Governor's speech, N. A. Becker moved from the floor "That Governor Stephens be elected to an honorary life membership in the Steel Workers' Club." A chorus of "Ayes" resounding from all sides of the hall more than expressed the unanimity of this motion.

W. J. Martin, chairman of the evening, rose from the chair to ask amusingly, "If he had heard any second to the motion."

The Governor in his acceptance declared it to be "a membership he would honor more greatly than his association with or membership in other organizations," and touched on the gratitude he felt at the many courtesies and kindness of spirit displayed to him by the people of South San Francisco, both on this and his former visit.

SCHAW-BATCHER MEN FORM WELFARE ASSN

WILL GIVE MONSTER BENEFIT IN CITY AUDITORIUM ON AUGUST 17; MAYOR ROLPH ENDORSES PLAN.

Employees of the Schaw-Batcher Company Ship Works have organized a permanent association known as the "Employees' Welfare Association," with offices at 606 American National Bank building, San Francisco, immediately adjoining that of F. A. Corbuser, "Safety Engineer" of the company, who is mainly responsible for the new movement and to whom contributions should be sent.

The plan has received the unqualified endorsement of Mayor Rolph, and the Welfare Association has secured the City Auditorium for a monster benefit on August 17, the proceeds of which will be given to families of the Schaw-Batcher employees killed and injured in the recent United Railroads street car accident. More than $1000 has already been subscribed by the employees of the shipyard to this fund.

T. M. RYAN TAKES OVER BROTHER'S BUSINESS HERE

The electrical business and retail shop of M. E. Ryan in South San Francisco will hereafter be under the ownership of T. M. Ryan, his brother, who has been managing the enterprise. Since the opening of the establishment T. M. Ryan has built up a substantial business and has secured several big contracts locally. The beautiful lighting fixtures and wiring of the recently opened Steel Workers' Club were installed by him.

JOSEPH B. HULSE WRITES OF ACTIVITIES

News has been received here from Joseph B. Hulse, now in France with the 37th Aero Squadron, Air Service of the American Expeditionary Forces.

In his letter was enclosed a souvenir menu of the first anniversary dinner given by the squadron, at which Lieutenant Roosevelt, son of Theodore Roosevelt, recently reported killed, was a guest.

A unique form of sport has been introduced in the way of modern chariot races among the boys. They use the "Dollies," or running gear of the flying machines, as man-pulled chariots. Young Hulse, along with Robert A. Lilley, were the winners in the first competition, which gave the onlookers much amusement.

San Francisco Boilermakers' Union, was the only other speaker introduced.

In his address McGuire appealed to those within sound of his voice to be on the alert against the aliens in their midst whose loyalty to the Government was questionable. He asked them to stand by their President, support the war work of the administration and back up the boys in Europe "until the American flag was hanging on the gates of Berlin and the Kaiser was in hell."

Many memberships to the club were issued through the activity of J. G. Walker, its secretary, and his associate workers. The first member enrolled following the invitation of W. J. Martin that all should join the club was E. G. Ekstrom, general manager of the shipyard.

Excellent music for the opening was supplied by the Schaw-Batcher Shipyard Band and Mrs. A. L. Cappelli, who rendered several well-received vocal solos.

MORE SHIPS TO BE BUILT HERE

SCHAW-BATCHER YARD GIVEN MAXIMUM CONTRACTS; HURLEY PRAISES PROGRESS AND EFFICIENCY.

The United States Shipping Board has assigned the Schaw-Batcher Company Ship Works the maximum of contracts allowable under the plan of award of the United States Emergency Fleet Corporation. Shipyards which have shown the greatest efficiency in growth and output have been assigned contracts to the full capacity of their output up to December, 1919, and the local ship building plant has been given contracts for the building of four more ships of the same class as are now under construction.

Charles M. Schwab, director-general of the Shipping Board, and Chas. Piez, assistant, were very favorably impressed with the work and management of the Schaw-Batcher Company, and the award of the maximum contracts came as a result of their visit to the works.

Officials of the Schaw-Batcher Company have received the commendation of Washington on their progress. The telegram received from Edward N. Hurley, along with the reply of the Schaw-Batcher Company, follows:

Schaw-Batcher Ship Building Company, South San Francisco, Cal. Please accept our sincere appreciation of the splendid work you are doing in the building of our ships. Organizations such as you have with patriotic workers and efficient officers are a great comfort to Mr. Schwab and myself. The establishing of a large industry such as you have and the remarkable progress you have made strengthens our position to produce sufficient ships to feed, clothe and supply our boys with munitions in France. I am sure that after your workers and you meet Mr. Schwab and ability to do big things, and that under his leadership you will be inspired to even greater work in the

We are prepared to return to work to-day after the great day yesterday with increased determination to do all that is humanly possible for you.

WAR INDUSTRIES BOARD GIVES RECOGNITION TO IMMENSE INDUSTRIES OF SAN MATEO COUNTY.

In the organization plan of Region No. 19 of the Resources and Conversion Section of the War Industries Board, San Mateo county has been included in district No. 1 along with the city and county of San Francisco. ### NYLAND BEATS CARLSON UP IN STREET FIGHT

As a culmination to a personal difference which has existed between the two men for some time past, "Steve" Nyland made an attack on C. E. Carlson at the corner of Grand and Linden avenues on Wednesday night about 9 o'clock.

According to those who witnessed the affray, Nyland attacked Carlson without warning and gave him a severe beating about the head and face after the latter had fallen to the pavement.

Carlson gives every evidence of having been severely mauled and has not yet returned to work at the steel mill, where both men are employed.

MCDANIEL AND KORTICK AT INDUSTRIAL CLUB

William J. McDaniel, accompanied by Supervisor Kortick of San Francisco, paid his initial visit to the South San Francisco Industrial Club, of which he is a member, on Friday. McDaniel is president of the California Iron Yards, which has recently commenced operations here.

DUKEMAN AND DUNBAUGH WILL LEAVE MILL AUGUST 1

The position of superintendent of mills has been abolished at the Pacific Coast Steel mill, automatically releasing W. J. Dukeman, who will probably sever his connections with the company on August 1.

Harry P. Dunbaugh, shipping clerk, will be succeeded by J. Hurst about the first of August.

WESTERN MEAT EMPLOYEE KILLED

JUAN FERNANDEZ, CRUSHED BY ELEVATOR, DIES SHORTLY AFTER.

Juan Fernandez, an employee of the Western Meat Company, died at the South San Francisco Hospital shortly after being crushed by an elevator at the Western Meat plant on Wednesday evening. Fernandez brought the automatically operated elevator to the fourth floor of the plant and neglected to raise the gate. When some one on the fifth floor pressed the button and the car began its upward rise, it is believed that Fernandez became panicky and attempted to jump from the moving car, striking his head on the floor above and throwing the upper part of his body off the elevator. He was caught at the waist between the moving elevator and platform and badly crushed.

Although extricated almost immediately, an examination by Dr. Dolley showed his injuries to be fatal.

Fernandez was 24 years of age and a native of Spain. He had been in this country a little over a year. He leaves a mother, brothers and sisters in his native land.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death due to carelessness of the deceased. The elevator is an improved type and had recently been inspected.

"If a girl is nice, you can easily tell it, and if she isn't nice, no matter what camouflage she uses, you can tell it still more easily.

"I met an actress the other day who claimed to be very nice indeed—Vassar graduate, planter's daughter, unfortunate speculations, and all that sort of thing.

"Well, this girl and I got into a taxicab to hurry to a rehearsal, and as she settled back in her seat she absent-mindedly said:

"When you ride in a taxi, dear, it's a good wrinkle to breathe on the windows if you don't want to be seen."

GUNS ROAR LULLABY FOR E. FOURCANS

AMERICAN BOYS HAVE HUNS IN THE OPEN, AND DOING FINE WORK, SAYS SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO BOY.

Corporal Etienne Fourcans, recently arrived overseas, has written the following letters to his people here:

France, June 14, 1918.

Dear Folks: At last some real French paper and envelope. I wrote you a few days ago, but having a little spare time I thought I would drop you a few lines. Since my last letter I have made a little move. At present I am not far from where they are raising the devil. The roar of the cannon puts us to sleep. It doesn't bother us the least bit. It takes quite a bit to scare us fellows.

I am feeling fine and dandy and only hope you people are as well. The weather here is simply grand. Reminds me of my vacation days. So far I have been in swimming twice. At Recques a couple of fellows and I went into a small river, and the major came along and saw us. He asked us how the water was. That settled it. He then ordered the whole regiment in. Ha, ha. It sure was a treat to the fellows and they didn't have any trouble forcing any one in.

We have done some hiking since we landed in France. In all, we have done about fifty miles. We have covered considerable territory with trains also. I have been in western, northwestern and northern France. I cannot mention any towns, but I passed within one mile of Paris at one time. Wished I could have dropped off to say hello to Aunt Amelie. I might get a chance to see them before long.

I am glad that I made the allotment to you, because money is not good to us except to buy wine once in a while. We cannot buy any bread or other eats because the people are only allowed so much. But leave it to me, I manage to get it.

A friend of mine from Tuolumne county and I went to a farmhouse one night and I asked a madame if she had any eggs to sell. I bought a dozen and asked her to cook them for me. She was very nice about it. A twelve-egg omelet, plenty bread and butter and two bottles of old French hard cider. Oh, but my stomach got surprised. Ha, ha.

There are plenty of airplanes in this section of the country. At times they fly over us in flocks of twenty-five or more. Looks just like a flock of ducks or geese. Of course, we do not see many enemy machines. They come around at night. They are mighty careful where they come, because the French 75s are always there to say "hello." When they start barking it is no fun.

Well, I must cut this off here, hoping this finds you in the best of spirits and enjoying good health. My best to all my friends.

As ever,

ETIENNE.

My address:

Corporal Etienne N. Fourcans, Co. B, 4th M. P., American Expeditionary Forces.

Co. B, 4th M. P., France.

June 18, 1918.

Dear Folks: Just a few lines to let you know that I am feeling fine and dandy. I only hope this letter finds you in the same condition.

We are finally located in a place where we will be for an unlimited period. We are only about ten kilometres from the front line, but feel as safe as fi we were in the United States. Every day and night we hear the steady bombarding, but it doesn't seem to annoy us any. The American boys are sure doing some fine work at present and have the Germans out in the open. That is just where we want them. If we keep up as we have been I will be eating Christmas dinner with you as sure as m-u-d spells mud. Our division went into the trenches lately and fine reports are coming back. It makes me feel out of place when I hear all my friends are up on the front line and I am back here working in an office. But some one has to do it.

Sunday I went to church for the first time in France, like all good

COLORS OF MARINES

These standards of victory are the flags of the marines who added renown to the already famous corps by the gallant attack on the Marne.

America Fills the Need.

For years it has been the custom for American manufacturers to obtain each season a large number of Paris garments and readapt them to the needs of American women. Paris has always taken the lead in suggesting possible styles. But the war has brought American designs to the fore, although it has by no means served to discourage Paris artists. Now many garments wholly American are being shown, and the fact has been clearly proved this country need never in future play second fiddle. The fact that fabrics and trimmings are scarce and that wool, especially, must be conserved has probably worked to the advantage of American designers and would-be designers. For simplicity has been the rule.

boys should. I was in charge of about twenty men. The priest preached a fine mass and sure did appreciate our presence. There were more American soldiers than people who attend this particular church. Toward the end of the mass they said several prayers for "Their Saviors," the American troops.

After church was over I marched my men back to our quarters, which is a brothers' school.

Our new home is a fine place, located near a nice river, and in a fairly large town. After retreat we are allowed to go out. We generally go and buy a drink or two. Sometimes we go in a bakery and buy a loaf of bread and then some butter, and then we charge on it. Once in a while I have an Anisette or an Amer Picon, etc. The butter is fine, just like we used to get from Charlie Guidali. Maybe you think I don't do justice to it.

I have been kept very busy lately. The colonel calls on me quite often to be his interpreter. This morning I was away all day with him in his automobile. I had about a forty-mile ride. Pretty soft, eh?

We have not been paid yet this month, but expect to be very shortly. Of course, I do not need it, but it is welcome, just the same. I have not touched my reserve yet. They are going to pay us in French money.

I have plenty of fun with the French young ladies. I go out and pretend I do not know any French, and then I let out a little. Good night! When they find out I talk it they surround me as if I was a wonder. Ha, ha!

It has been raining to-day, but it doesn't matter much because we are inside most of the time. At least, I am.

The food we are getting now is much better than we had when we were in the English secteur. Now we are in the French secteur and get about the same food as the French. We have French bread, which is very dark, but good. We are entitled to wine, but do not get it. We have good coffee instead. While in the English our chief food was canned beef, hard-tack and tea, while now we have French bread, butter, soup, stew, mashed potatoes and coffee. How's that?

Well, I must close, hoping you are all in the best of spirits and health, and don't worry about me, because I am taking care of myself.

As ever, brother and son,

ETIENNE.

Julian Eltinge in "The Clever Mrs. Carfax" Tuesday's Bill at the Royal

Julian Eltinge, cleverest feminine impersonator of stage or screen, has had many amusing experiences in his travels, both on the stage and since he took up motion picture work. It is one of the pastimes of the Paramount studios, where Mr. Eltinge is now working, to get him started telling these.

Altogether, the star has furnished much entertainment to the actors, and one of the sights of the place is his dressing room. The favorite stunt is to take visitors there without any warning explanation of what they are going to see. One New England school teacher recently nearly fainted at the sight—which was this:

On a wax head, such as is used in millinery stores, was carelessly placed a very blond flaxen wig, while close beside it lay a pair of pistols and next to them the daintiest of fluffy powder puffs and a couple of huge black cigars. Whether the little school teacher thought that she had discovered the den of Bluebeard the second and his wives was never known, for with one shrill scream she was gone—away and far away from the "wicked" studios forever. Mr. Eltinge's next feminine screen impersonation, "The Clever Mrs. Carfax," will be shown at the Royal Theatre on Tuesday.

HERSMAN SAYS PARTY LINES HAVE DISAPPEARED

Gilroy, July 17.—Following a tour of the eight counties comprising the Eighth Congressional District, Hugh S. Hersman of this city, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the national House of Representatives, having been importuned by hundreds of Republicans to allow his name to be placed by petition on the Republican ballot for the primary election, announced to-day that he had given his consent to such action.

Hersman says that party lines have disappeared. That all over the district there is but one great issue: that of loyally supporting the plans of the President for winning the war and making a strong peace for all the world following its conclusion. That the opinion in all the counties is that a Democrat entirely in sympathy with the policies of the President in this respect can best reflect the sentiments of the men and women of the eighth district. He believes that he will receive both nominations.

Your Patriotic Duty

Would you serve Democracy?—Then live for Democracy! Do your part in Democracy! Register and Vote!

Over across the Atlantic men are making the supreme sacrifice. They are giving their lives that government of the people by the people and for the people—Democracy, if you like—may not perish from the earth.

We at home are not called upon to make the supreme sacrifice—not called upon to die for the cause of Democracy. But we are called upon to live for Democracy; to live our part in Democracy; to take our part in government of the people by the people and for the people. Failure to do this is failure to support the cause for which men in the trenches are dying; failure to do our bit in the fight for Democracy.

The citizen who neglects to participate at elections does not do his part in government; does not live for Democracy. He is untrue to the Democracy to preserve which men across the Atlantic are giving their lives.

If Democracy is worth fighting for and dying for, it is worth living for and voting for.

Democracy needs at times men with guns in their hands. But Democracy must always have citizens with ballots in their hands, unless it is to perish from the earth.

The supreme test of Democracy comes not on the battlefield but at the ballot-box.

On August 27 next a general primary election will be held throughout California to name candidates for State, Legislative, County and Township offices.

The citizen, to vote at that election, must have registered from the precinct of his present residence since January 1, 1918.

Registration closes on July 27.

What have you done about it?

Have you yourself registered?

Have you exerted yourself to get your neighbors and your friends to register?

What are you going to do about it?

Unless you are registered by July 27 you will not have qualified to vote at the August primary; you will be mere dead timber in Democracy. And all the Liberty Bond buttons, and all the Red Cross buttons in the world, and all the protestations of patriotism and of loyalty to Democracy, will not then suffice to make you live timber at this very important test of Democracy—the primary election of August 27, 1918.

Unused Material

The defeat in Congress of the amendment of the revenue bill extending the selective draft to 40 years and backward to 18, if it indicates anything like a permanent policy of the government, will place our country in a most anomalous position.

The call from overseas is for more and more men—millions and more millions of men. Already the newspapers are reporting from every section of the country that Class 1 of the former draft is practically exhausted. Secretary Baker has stated that we are transporting troops at the rate of 400,000 a month. The men coming of age in the past year number scarcely a million, and not nearly all of these will be listed in Class 1. From where are recruits coming during the next three or four months? Will we have to go into the lower classes to secure them?

Many public men of sound judgment favored placing the age limit at 40 or 45 in the beginning. This, it seems to us, would have been the wiser course. Our country has a wealth of good fighting material between the ages of 31 and 45. Thousands of these men would make capital soldiers. They are inured to life's hard knocks, settled in their habits, and with very little training would be a match for Germany's best.

The people of this country can not afford to permit themselves to be lulled into a false sense of security. Just because the Allies have held the western line; just because they have defeated the great Austrian offensive, is no indication that victory is even remotely in sight. The German machine is still militant and it will take millions of Americans to bring the allied armies to a point where real offensive warfare can be risked. There is a vast difference between holding the western line, and marching to Berlin. Germany must be greatly reduced and the Allies immeasurably strengthened before the latter move can be undertaken—and we must not even dream of relaxing our efforts until this is effected.

Our ship-building program assures us that transport facilities will constantly increase from now on. Why, then, should all this unused material in fighting men—material of the very best—be left unused? All the other allied nations have utilized all their available fighting force.

Some may ask, Who will take the places of these men in industrial life? And we give the Yankee's answer by asking another question: Who has taken those places in England and France?

We will make a most fatal mistake if we permit the idea to enter the national mind that we can win this war with our surplus. America is going to be forced to trench deeply on her capital before the end comes. Fighting men by millions and material resources by billions must be poured into the vortex before we can rest in victory. Germany would be only too pleased to see us lulled into a false sense of security to the extent of even the least slackening of our intense preparations.

Let's utilize all the latent fighting material as well as material resources.

During the three-pounds-per-month-per-person sugar limitation, do not complain if your coffee is not sweet enough. The French are allowed but thirteen pounds of sugar per year per person, the Italians only nine pounds—if they can get it. The price of sugar in France is twenty-five cents, in Italy sixty cents a pound.

Ye Towne Gossip

By B. V. D.

(With Apologies to K. C. B.)

It pays to advertise

Is what some one

Must have told

The Girls' Patriotic League;

For all this week

I have been bombarded

With questions,

As to whether or not

I saw them paint

The band stand

Last Saturday.

And I didn't;

And I'm sorry;

And everything.

For the spectators

Are all enthusiastic

About the form

Of patriotism

Displayed by the girls

In their overalls.

They fitted perfectly.

I am wondering

Whether or not

The patriotic girls

Would stage it again

For my benefit.

Perhaps W. J. Martin,

Who owns the building,

Where the Enterprise is,

Would make a contract

To have it painted

By the girls,

And give the money

To the Red Cross.

I surely would stay

In South San Francisco

On that Saturday.

I THANK YOU.

If the world would have absolute proof of the deep duplicity of the German nation it can be found in the statement, from high German authority, that that nation, instead of numbering sixty millions of people, as given out at the opening of the war, in reality numbered ninety millions. There can be no doubt that for years past Germany's census returns have been deliberately falsified. There could have been but one object in this—deceiving the world as to her true strength. The allied world knows now, however, that it is fighting a monster of gigantic proportions, and is making its preparations accordingly.

Who comes here? A grenadier.
What does he want? A glass of beer.
What does he get? Why, better yet,
Some nice lemonade, all sparkling clear,
Or soda pop or good root beer,
And nothing else in the world, my dear!

Another woman has been acquitted for killing a mere man. If this thing keeps up it will not be long before the life insurance companies will be forced to include this mode of death with suicide in their list of "exceptions."

When the government takes control of the telegraph, telephone and cables, will there be more or less wire-pulling than at present?

RED CROSS HANDLES MAIL TO ALIENS

COMMUNICATIONS TO CENTRAL POWERS ARE REWRITTEN TO AVOID CODE MESSAGES.

To prevent the possibility of valuable information getting into Germany, the American Red Cross, in sending letters behind the enemy lines at the request of persons in this country, is carefully following a plan worked out by the State Department to do away with code.

Americans, Germans or others in the United States wishing to communicate with relatives in Germany must now write out their message in Red Cross chapters throughout the country. These are sent through the division offices of the organization to national headquarters. Here they are rewritten and the wording absolutely changed to prevent the sending of any diagram or secret code. The messages are then given to the Censorship Board and are passed or refused by them as the case may be. When they reach a neutral country, they are translated on other paper and in most cases delivered by the Red Cross of the place to which they go. The plan is considered as spy-proof as it is possible to devise.

During the last twenty-five years the practice has grown up that welfare inquiries and messages shall be permitted between civilians in countries which are at war with each other. The promiscuous sending of letters through organizations in neutral countries could not be permitted because of the large number of enemies in the country. To prohibit entirely the sending of messages would, for example, prevent a loyal American from finding out whether his sister, unfortunately married to a German, was alive or dead. Prohibition was in force for a time and pitiful appeals were received by the Red Cross from French, Belgians and Italians, begging the society to get word for them as to whether their people in the occupied districts were still alive.

The State Department presented to the Red Cross the present plan in detail and asked that the 'Red Cross put it into effect. As it was a purely humanitarian work, the government could do no more than supervise the work.

To-day the American Red Cross is sending an average of 1300 letters a day to persons living behind the enemy lines. This work is done through Washington headquarters of the American Red Cross.

EMMA EIKERENKOTTER WEDS CARL W. MEYER

QUIET NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED AT GRACE CATHEDRAL; COUPLE AT LAKE TAHOE ON HONEYMOON.

The wedding of Miss Emma E. Eikerenkotter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eikerenkotter of this city, and Mr. Carl W. Meyer, was quietly solemnized at Grace Episcopal Cathedral, San Francisco, on Saturday last at 5 o'clock. Following the ceremony the bridal party partook of a wedding breakfast at the Palace Hotel, and later the bride and groom left for Lake Tahoe, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haaker, the latter a sister of the bride, were present at the nuptials and gave a particular air of romance to the ceremony, inasmuch as the present Mr. and Mrs. Meyer were best man and bridesmaid respectively at the Haaker wedding.

Upon their return from Tahoe the young couple will make their home temporarily with the bride's parents.

Mr. Meyer, who is 27 years of age, was born at Woodside and is well known in peninsula circles. He is assistant to the manager of Miller & Lux. The bride is 26 years of age.

News of the wedding came as a complete surprise to the many friends of the young couple.

MRS. A. B. FICKETT DIES FOLLOWING AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. A. B. Fickett passed away at her home in Sacramento at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning as a result of injuries sustained when her car turned turtle.

Mrs. Fickett was one of Sacramento's best-known residents, her parents having made their home in that city since 1849.

The deceased was 52 years of age, and leaves to mourn her loss her two daughters, Alice and Annie Fickett, and a brother, Willard Haynie, of Sacramento.

FACTORIES AND FIRE TRUCK HONOR YANKEES

To celebrate the tremendous success of the Americans in their drive on the western front in France, the whistles of the factories cut loose in unison at 6 o'clock Thursday evening and continued to blow for five minutes. The local fire truck joined in the patriotic noise making, its shrieking siren drawing crowds to the streets.

NEWS OF VICTORY ADDS ZEST TO DANCE

RED CROSS BENEFIT DRAWS MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED COUPLES.

Particular sprightliness was lent to the feet of all the "Miss Twinkletoes" and their "cavaliers" who attended the Red Cross dance at Fraternal Hall on Thursday night, when Judge E. E. Cunningham, as a preface to his opening address, "The Meaning of America," announced the latest press dispatch from the western front that "Our boys over there" had established American headquarters on territory captured from the Germans.

The Red Cross dance, made successful through the courtesy of the Monize orchestra, was a brilliant success and attracted more than 200 couples. The most artistic and fashionable frock ever designed for the women of the world—the uniform of the Red Cross—predominated, and the wearers, mingling freely with the men in uniform, gave the affair more the appearance of a military ball than a hastily arranged evening of dancing.

A substantial unsolicited contribution was made to the Red Cross at the dance by the Red Men.

FOURCANS WILL GET TEN-FOOT LETTER FROM HERE

A unique and interesting letter to Corporal Etienne Fourcans, known as a "ten-foot letter," will soon be on its way to him in France. The idea, which originated with his sister, is to have each of the friends of Fourcans write him on one long roll prepared for the purpose. Some very amusing and interesting missives have already been inscribed, and the letter is bound to be a source of delight, not only to the recipient, but to all his companions as well, because of the newsy chatter and breezy style employed by many of the writers. The plan can be adopted to advantage by any one with a friend or relative at the front, and will give ample proof of the fact that they are remembered by those they have left behind.

RECORD MADE IN BUILDING THE WARD

This view shows the U. S. destroyer Ward, under construction at the Mare Island navy yard, California, 24 hours after the keel was laid. As much structural work as possible was prepared in advance; bulkheads, sections of the keel, deckhouses and bridge structure were riveted up ready for assembling in place on the ways. The Ward was launched 17½ days from the date of laying of her keel. This is a new world's shipbuilding record.

NEWSPAPERMEN OUTWIT HUN SPIES

By JOHN R. RATHOM

The Enterprise was the first paper in San Mateo county to publish this gripping story in serial form for the benefit of its readers. A county daily has since commenced its publication, following the lead of The Enterprise.

Every word of that conference, which was translated from Spanish for Captain Boy-Ed's benefit, was handed over to the United States Government the next afternoon; and in that way the people of the country, I think, got their first idea as to the extent of the German propaganda, as far as it related to our affairs with Mexico, our sister republic.

A little while later, a young German army officer—and I am telling you this to illustrate what I will get to a little later on, the mentality of the official German—which we had to find out something about to accomplish what we did.

Wernerhorn was a very clean-cut, handsome young German army officer. He was ordered by Captain von Papen to go up to the Canadian border and blow up the Vanceboro bridge on the border. That was one of their child-like amusements at that time. He went down to West street in New York, and bought himself a second-hand suit of clothes for about four dollars and got a pair of heavy hob-nailed shoes, let his beard grow for a week, cut off his military mustache, and with a little filthy cap on his head, he boarded the Merchants' Limited train from New York to Boston. And when I asked him myself in Charlestown jail a little later how it was that he had done that, he said, "Sir, I am an officer and a gentleman and I don't travel any other way."

We found out, a very little while after we began our work, that there was something going on entirely outside of the embassy and the consulates, something tremendously harmful to the peace of the United States; and there was some great organization somewhere in America which was operating not entirely apart from, but directly with the embassy men themselves. We soon discovered that this organization was the Hamburg-American Steamship Line, which was nothing but an outpost of the German Foreign Office—which every German bank and insurance and steamship company, and every other such organization in the United States has been and always will be—in my judgment.

The Hamburg-American motto was "Put none but Germans on guard," and they readily saw that that was carried out. It was very hard to try and figure some way when we saw it was necessary to get a man of ours into the Hamburg-American Steamship Company's office. We sent one of our reporters to Lima, Ohio. From there he wrote a letter to the vice-president and general manager of the Hamburg-American Company, saying that he was a poor but honest lad of German parentage; that he had heard from his brother who was a telegraph operator in Providence, who heard from a telegraph operator in our own building, that we were contemplating an attempt to get a man into the Hamburg-American offices in the guise of a janitor; that he felt it his duty to the Fatherland to write. He did not know if it was true. He hoped that something might come out of it.

Two weeks later a young man presented himself to the offices asking for the job as janitor. He was taken into the private executive offices of the vice-president and there put through the third degree by the chief of their secret service, one Paul Koenig, now serving time in the Atlanta penitentiary.
